Copy of letter from E. Bennet Esq., I.C.S. Collector of Bellary, No.Ref.C.3886/29 dated 9th January 1930.

Board's Reference H.3907/29-4 dated 9th November 1929.

In G.O.No.445 Misc., dated 4th March 1929 Government postponed the collection of (1) half the Land Revenue arrears of Fasli 1336 in 26 villages of Bellary Taluk, 10 villages of which have since been transferred to Siruguppa Taluk (2) half the Land Revenue of Fasli 1338 in 53 villages of Bellary Taluk 4 of which now relate to Siruguppa Taluk, and (3) the full Land Revenue of Fasli 1338 in 31 villages of Bellary Taluk for collection in Fasli 1339. I beg to submit the following proposals for the collection of the above suspended revenue.

2. I have been keeping the Board informed about the condition of the season this year in the fortnightly special season reports. Owing to the failure of early rains, cotton and ground-nut could not be raised in proper season, with the result that there were no mungari sowings on a large extent. Rains were received in the year in September for the first time and the sowings of both mungari and Hingari areas took place simultaneously. The mungari crops being out of season did not fare too well. Ground-nut was not raised to any appreciable extent in Bellary taluk, and its place was taken by sajja which however fared badly as the sowing was out of season. Cotton and ground-nut yielded a poor out-turn except in a very few villages. The hingari rains were timely but owing to the incessant rains in September and October, the ryots were not able to bring under plough as much area as they desired, with the result that the season for sowing Hingari pure Korra was ~~nearl~~ nearly over. Most of the black-soil area was raised with mixed cotton, and white cholum, the latter covering a larger area than the former. These crops came up alright but owing to the lack of one heavy shower in December 1929 they are not as satisfactory as they ought to be. Korra is being harvested now with a yield of 4 to 7 annas except in parts where it is 8 to 11 annas. Cotton is perfectly green but stunted in growth in many fields. It is in flowers now. The growth of mixed cotton has to be guaged after korra is harvested. White cholum is fair to good in pure black soil areas, but it is said to be fading in heavily manured and saline soils around the villages for want of a heavy shower in December. It is beginning to put forth ears here and there. As matters stand at present cotton may yield 4 to 7 annas and white cholum 8 to 11 annas in most parts and 4 to 7 annas in others. The above estimates are based on the inspection of the crops by the Tahsildars, the Revenue Divisional Officer, Bellary, and also on my own personal observation in the two taluks.

pp 9-14 C F

3. I append three schedules showing the names of villages, the amount of Land Revenue suspended and the estimated average yeild for each village. The average yield ranges from 7 to 8 annas except in a few villages where it is less than 7 annas and more than 8 annas. A revenue village has been taken as the unit and the out-turn of crops has been worked out

according

according to the principles contained in para 5 of B.S.O. 14. The out-turn of the crops has been worked out on rough estimates based on the present condition of the two main crops. Taking into consideration the probable inaccuracies in the estimates of crops and also the general economic situation of these villages, no differential treatment is called for in respect of any of these villages. All the villages may be grouped together and treated alike on the question of the collection of the suspended revenue.

4. Under B.S.O. 14 para 8 some time should be allowed to ryots to recover from the effects of the bad season which has necessitated the suspension and the suspended revenue should not be collected until one fair harvest is reaped. In view of the fact that the estimated out-turn for this year is only 7--8 annas, and this follows three other seasons which have not been good, I do not think that any of the suspended revenue of Fasli 1336 or Fasli 1338 should be collected this year. I therefore beg to recommend that the suspended revenue of Fasli 1336 should be remitted, and of Fasli 1338 postponed for further collection till Fasli 1340. The Land Revenue of Fasli 1339 will be collected as usual in all the villages.

5. The estimated out-turns based as they are on the present un-ripened state of crops are likely to be inaccurate; but if the crops do improve, a revised report will be submitted if necessary for collection of the suspended revenue in select areas, where any improvement is noticed. In anticipation of Board's orders, I am issuing orders postponing the collection of suspended revenue of Fasli 1336 and 1338 to March 1930.
